

Installed Building Products Awarded With “National Preferred Partner” Distinction for Fourth Year in a Row

July 2, 2024

COLUMBUS, Ohio--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jul. 2, 2024-- Installed Building Products, Inc. (the “Company” or “IBP”) (NYSE: IBP) earned the National Preferred Partner Award from David Weekley Homes’ 20th annual National Preferred Partner Survey. The award recognizes field and manufacturing partners who have consistently operated at world-class levels, as determined by the home builder’s supplier evaluation platform.

For the fourth year in a row, IBP is one of only 12 companies named a National Preferred Partner in the field partner category. The comprehensive process evaluates companies in the areas of quality and customer service.

“Receiving this honor for the fourth consecutive year highlights our team’s unwavering dedication to excellence,” said Jeff Hire, President of External Affairs at IBP. “Our customers, including the team at David Weekley Homes, depend on our commitment to outstanding service, and we are proud to fulfill that commitment consistently.”

Installed Building Products was one of 122 companies evaluated by David Weekley Homes and just 20% achieved the distinction of National Preferred Partner. The evaluation process involves a comprehensive system of feedback and discussion that enables David Weekley Homes to measure excellence among all established trade partners and their channel partners. Providers that receive the highest scores throughout the year are presented with the prestigious National Preferred Partners Award.

“Installed Building Products has consistently proven to be a valuable partner. We’re grateful for their phenomenal expertise and commitment to delivering a high-quality product to our homebuyers,” said John Schiegg, Vice President of Supply Chain Services, David Weekley Homes.
