

Installed Building Products Publishes 2025 Environmental, Social and Governance Report

October 10, 2025

COLUMBUS, Ohio--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Oct. 10, 2025-- Installed Building Products, Inc. (the "Company" or "IBP") (NYSE: IBP), an industry-leading installer of insulation and complementary building products, announced today the release of the Company's 2025 Environmental, Social and Governance ("ESG") report, showcasing key achievements from the past year and reaffirming its ongoing commitment to ESG principles. The report highlights the Company's continued efforts to support environmental sustainability, employee well-being, and community engagement in pursuit of a more sustainable and equitable future.

"As we reflect on the past year and look ahead to the future, I am proud of the progress we have made in advancing our environmental, social, and governance commitments, while continuing to grow as a company. Over the past decade, IBP has transformed from a regional leader into a national force in building products, with more than 10,000 employees and over 250 locations across the country. This growth has strengthened our ability to serve our customers, support our employees, and expand the positive impact we have in the communities where we live and work," stated Jeff Edwards, Chairman, President and CEO.

"Our culture of 'doing the right thing' remains the foundation of everything we do. It guides how we treat our people, how we engage with our customers, and how we steward the environment. As part of these efforts, in 2024 we introduced the Jay Elliott Building for Tomorrow Scholarship. The scholarship is awarded once a year to an IBP employee or family member pursuing higher education with the highest financial need and character scores. It is a lasting tribute to Jay who served as IBP's Chief Operating Officer for over 20 years and his enduring impact and commitment to education," continued Mr. Edwards.

IBP's inaugural ESG report was issued in 2021, and steady progress has been achieved in accomplishing the Company's original goals. The Company's dedication to reaching meaningful ESG milestones reflects the commitment of IBP team members, who consistently uphold its values, mission, and vision. In addition, IBP continues to make measurable progress in reducing its carbon footprint. From transitioning more of the electricity supply to carbon-free sources, to expanding the use of lower-emission spray foam products, IBP is embedding sustainability into its operations and the products installed every day. Approximately 64% of the Company's 2024 revenue was from service related to the installation, distribution, and manufacturing of energy-saving insulation.

Highlights of IBP's 2025 ESG report include the following updates:

- Decreased the CO2 emissions from spray foam applications from the unadjusted 2020 baseline by approximately 89%, while the industry continues to transition to lower GHG emission spray foam materials, and will likely be phased out by the end of 2025.
- Increased energy usage from carbon free electricity supplies to approximately 38% of IBP's total usage
- Maintained IBP's commitment to safety with zero fatalities
- Granted $340,000 to IBP employees in need of a helping hand since 2019
- Expanded programs focused on safety, mental health, and financial wellness, while also investing in training and development to prepare IBP's workforce for the future.
- Expected to award its 500th scholarship this fall through the IBP Foundation, with the total amount of scholarships awarded surpassing $6 million
- Introduced the Jay Elliott Building for Tomorrow Scholarship, a new $10,000 annual award that honors the legacy of one of IBP's most respected leaders
- Contributed over $4.3 million to nonprofit organizations, including employee matching gifts, across the country through the Installed Building Products Foundation, bringing IBP's total philanthropic impact since 2019 to over $14 million

"Our ESG journey is far from over, it is only entering its next chapter. Over the coming decade, we will deepen our commitment to reducing our environmental footprint, advancing opportunity for our employees, and expanding our impact in the communities we serve. We believe that by doing the right thing today, we are laying the foundation for a stronger, more sustainable tomorrow," concluded Mr. Edwards.

IBP's Commitment to its Communities

As IBP continues to grow, so does its commitment to being a positive force in the communities where IBP's employees live and work. Through the Installed Building Products Foundation and corporate giving programs, the Company contributes more than 1% of its annual EBITDA to support education, housing, and community resilience initiatives nationwide.
